Supervising Judges Named in the Third Judicial District

CASTLETON-ON-HUDSON, NEW YORK–Third Judicial District Administrative Judge E. Danielle Jose-Decker today announced the appointment of two new Supervising Judges within the District, which encompasses the counties of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan, and Ulster.

Hon. Holly Trexler, Albany City Court, has been appointed Supervising Judge of the District's City Courts. Judge Trexler has served on the Albany City Court bench for ten years, implementing operational improvements and strengthening relationships between the court, partner agencies, and the community. With thirty years of practice experience and familiarity with city courts across the District, she brings an extensive network of professional relationships that support collaborative problem-solving and enhanced efficiency.

Hon. Ryan McAllister, Schoharie County Multi-bench Judge and Acting Supreme Court Justice, has been named Coordinating Judge of the District's Problem-Solving Courts. Judge McAllister has successfully overseen the Schoharie County Adult Treatment Court and Family Treatment Court programs for more than three-and-a-half years and recently assumed oversight of the Schoharie County Integrated Domestic Violence (IDV) Court. His work across these specialty courts demonstrates his commitment to best practices and his deep understanding of the unique challenges facing rural communities and their limited treatment-court resources.

The appointments are effective immediately.
