

ASSISTANT CORPORATION COUNSEL, APPEALS DIVISION

The Law Department is seeking applicants for an Assistant Corporation Counsel position in its Appeals Division. The Appeals Division handles appeals originating from virtually all of the Law Department's litigating divisions and prepares amicus briefs in cases implicating the City's interests. Our attorneys appear before federal and state appellate courts and are responsible for briefing and arguing appeals in an array of cases—from routine litigation arising out of the governance of a municipality with 8.5 million residents to complex appeals involving cutting-edge legal questions and critical public policy issues. The unparalleled breadth and depth of our docket affords our attorneys a unique perspective on how the City works and an unrivaled opportunity to engage in high-caliber appellate practice and contribute to legal developments impacting the City's government and its residents. Working independently and collaboratively with supervisors, trial attorneys, client agencies, and executive staff, you will brief and argue a significant number of appeals every year.

Because our mission is to provide exceptional appellate advocacy on behalf of the City, we are looking for exceptional candidates committed to public service and capable of tackling this challenging work. Excellent writing, research, and analytical skills are a must. You must also have graduated from an ABA-accredited law school and be a member in good standing of the New York State Bar, or be in the process of being admitted.

Prior appellate experience—from practice or through an appellate clerkship—is preferred but not required.

The deadline to apply is August 25, 2018.
