

AFFIRMATIVE LITIGATION DIVISION

The New York City Law Department is accepting applications from admitted attorneys with a minimum of two years of litigation and/or clerkship experience for the position of Assistant Corporation Counsel in the Affirmative Litigation Division. The Division represents the City in a diverse and exceptionally interesting range of federal and state cases where the City appears as plaintiff to advance key policy interests, to protect the City fisc, and to represent the City in the array of claims that arise in its operations. The Division is hiring attorneys to focus on litigation to protect tenants through enforcing the Building Code and other applicable law.

Two years of litigation experience and/or clerkship experience after graduation from an ABA accredited law school. New York State bar admission is required. The ideal candidate should possess the ability to develop and litigate complex cases, strong writing and analytical skills, and the capability to work independently or under supervision, as appropriate to the scale and complexity of the case. Additionally, experience representing tenants or enforcing municipal codes is preferred.

The deadline to apply is January 10, 2019.
