

Description

Mintz is seeking a highly qualified associate with 2 years of experience (in the associate class year of 2019) to join our high-profile litigation practice in New York City. Our firm has a national reputation as a go-to firm for high-stakes litigation sealed by numerous significant victories. Our associates have the opportunity to work closely with our senior lawyers and litigation team while supporting public and private companies in sophisticated business litigation throughout the country. Our litigation group maintains a diverse practice across various industries specializing in commercial contract disputes, fiduciary duty, shareholder disputes, partnership disputes, and business torts. Our litigators also regularly handle class actions. In addition to our extensive trial experience, we resolve cases through arbitration, mediation, and alternative dispute resolution.

Responsibilities

The ideal candidate should have a comprehensive complex litigation skill set and should be experienced in legal research, brief-writing, running document production, and discovery. Securities experience is a plus. We're looking for a key team player who will support the growth of the practice, contribute to articles, attend speaking engagements and participate in other client development activities.

Qualifications

- 2 years of law firm experience (in the associate class year of 2019)
- Outstanding academic credentials
- Excellent research and writing skills
- New York Bar membership in good standing
- Judicial clerkship and law review experience a plus

To apply, please submit your resume, cover letter, writing sample, and transcript to rbmaltz@mintz.com
