Environmental Associate

Location

Rochester or Albany, NY

Position Summary

At Nixon Peabody, our priority is to attract, retain, and promote talented individuals who have an array of racial, ethnic, social, economic, religious, and personal backgrounds, genders and sexual orientations. Therefore, we encourage talented individuals with diverse backgrounds and experiences to apply.

Our Environmental practice is seeking to hire an associate to join our Rochester or Albany office.

The ideal candidate will have at least three to five years of experience in New York State environmental law. Experience with the investigation and remediation of contaminated property pursuant to the New York State Superfund and Brownfield Cleanup programs is a plus. Qualified candidates will be motivated self-starters with stellar academic credentials, superb judgment and communication skills, a commitment to excellence and have the ability to thrive in a fast-paced environment.

Nixon Peabody's Environmental practice offers its clients a unique blend of legal counseling and representation supported by in-house scientific professionals. We have experience in all substantive areas of environmental law and can help our clients address the full spectrum of their environmental needs. To learn more about our team, please visit:

A career at Nixon Peabody is the opportunity to do work that matters. It's a chance to use your knowledge to shape what's ahead. To share, to innovate, to learn at a firm that taps the power of collective thinking. We're investing in our people and making them successful across the firm. Rochester and Albany offer lawyers a sought after and differentiating environment to grow a practice and a family. Both regions offer major market quality of life without major market costs, making it a destination for talented people and innovative companies.

The Rochester and Albany legal communities are tight-knit, and our engagement in those communities results in meaningful leadership opportunities. Most of our lawyers serve on boards of local businesses and community organizations of all kinds. We hope you will consider this great opportunity to join the only law firm in Upstate New York that offers a national environmental practice on a global platform.
